Dan Petterson is the Director of Captive Examinations for the Vermont Division of Captive Insurance where he leads a group of 26 examiners responsible for ensuring that Vermont Captive Insurance companies are operating responsibly and in accordance with applicable rules and regulations.

Before his transition to the Vermont Division of Captive Insurance, Dan spent four years with the Vermont Division of Insurance regulating traditional insurance companies as an Administrative Insurance Examiner.

Prior to becoming a regulator, Dan spent six years in public accounting, including three years with PricewaterhouseCoopers primarily in the insurance industry. Dan received an undergraduate degree in accounting from Castleton State College and a Masters in Business Administration from the University of New Hampshire.
